

The words listed in bold are the correct definitions

Tossicated

To be sexually aroused

To feel restless and perplexed

A term for seasickness, used by seasoned sailors to scorn those with no sea legs

Saturday-stop

A compulsory tea-break halt for train drivers in the early days of Saturday rail excursions

A kind of door-wedge, used in back-to-back houses, to prevent drunken neighbours bursting in after a Saturday night in the pub (Birmingham)

A time unlawful to catch salmon, from evensong on Saturday until sunrise on Monday, in the northern parts of the British Isles

Owlguller

An owl catcher, who sold live owls for mousing, or to bring good luck to the home.

An ignorant person, who peers like an owl and screeches like a gull. (Kent)

To pry about, be stealthy, and thievish – (Suffolk)

Ninny-nonny

To feel uncertain, especially in Lincolnshire

A dunce or very forgetful person

A pleasing fancy, whim or trifle

Meacock

A silly, effeminate fellow – a term of insult often combined as ‘a meacock and a milksop’

A term for the finest barnyard cockerel, judged by his plumage

A type of spigot used to stop up a barrel, sometimes used as an obscene euphemism

Kipe

To nag, whinge and whine in Norfolk

A hearty slab of bread and cheese in Dorset

To be wrong, just plain wrong, in Lancashire

Crap

All definitions are correct!

To snap or crack (Somerset)

Dregs of beer

Money (North) (everyone gets a point!)

Also there are supplementary definitions:

A bunch or cluster (West Country)

Crept (North)

Darnel, buckwheat

A coarse part of a beef joint

Back part of the neck

Assurance (Wilts)

Crapping – gathering crops (West)
Crap-full – quite full (Devon)

Three thrum

A weaving pattern, involving a particular rhythm of the loom

The song of a female cat as she purrs (Lincolnshire)

A kind of musing phrase, like ‘ho hum’, said when hesitant

Kissing-crust

Marks left on the face by vigorous kissing

Where two loaves have joined together in the oven

A ridge of icy snow, which girls would try to kiss and melt to improve their luck in love

Giglet

A giddy, romping girl (West) May imply wantonness

A small kind of pony trap, popular on the Welsh borders

A shaped cutlet, made out of odds and ends of meat, beans etc

Snurle

A delicate snare, to catch stoats and weasels

A cold in the head (Suffolk)

A tangle of sheep’s wool, such as found on thorn bushes (Devon)

Clapperclaw

Part of a type of church bell

A hiding place in a clapper bridge to leave messages, goods etc. (Devon)

To beat, abuse and fight seriously

Bittiwelp

To rush or fall headlong (Bedfordshire)

A small puppy, often the runt of the litter

To holler loudly and in a crazy manner

Nunt

An insult, meaning a small and worthless person

To go nunting is to collect acorns for pigs

To make an effort (North)

Snuffkin

A small muff used by ladies in cold weather

An affectionate term for the youngest child of the family (Yorkshire)

A kind of toadstool, once added to snuff to make up weight cheaply

Wudder

The tail fin of a fish (Somerset)

An indecisive person, who thinks all the time about whether (‘wudder’) to do something

To make a sullen roar

Panellist 1

Tossicated

To be sexually aroused

Saturday-stop

A compulsory tea-break halt for train drivers in the early days of Saturday rail excursions

Owlguller

An owl catcher, who sold live owls for mousing, or to bring good luck to the home.

Ninny-nonny

To feel uncertain, especially in Lincolnshire

Meacock

A silly, effeminate fellow – a term of insult often combined as ‘a meacock and a milksop’

Kipe

To nag, whinge and whine in Norfolk

Crap

To snap or crack (Somerset)

Three thrum

A weaving pattern, involving a particular rhythm of the loom

Kissing-crust

Marks left on the face by vigorous kissing

Giglet

A giddy, romping girl (West) May imply wantonness

Snurle

A delicate snare, to catch stoats and weasels

Clapperclaw

Part of a type of church bell

Bittiwelp

To rush or fall headlong (Bedfordshire)

Nunt

An insult, meaning a small and worthless person

Snuffkin

A small muff used by ladies in cold weather

Wudder

The tail fin of a fish (Somerset)

Panellist 2

Tossicated

To feel restless and perplexed

Saturday-stop

A kind of door-wedge, used in back-to-back houses, to prevent drunken neighbours bursting in after a Saturday night in the pub (Birmingham)

Owlguller

An ignorant person, who peers like an owl and screeches like a gull. (Kent)

Ninny-nonny

A dunce or very forgetful person

Meacock

A term for the finest barnyard cockerel, judged by his plumage

Kipe

A hearty slab of bread and cheese in Dorset

Crap

Dregs of beer

Three thrum

The song of a female cat as she purrs (Lincolnshire)

Kissing-crust

Where two loaves have joined together in the oven

Giglet

A small kind of pony trap, popular on the Welsh borders

Snurle

A cold in the head (Suffolk)

Clapperclaw

A hiding place in a clapper bridge to leave messages, goods etc. (Devon)

Bittiwelp

A small puppy, often the runt of the litter

Nunt

To go nunting is to collect acorns for pigs

Snuffkin

An affectionate term for the youngest child of the family (Yorkshire)

Wudder

An indecisive person, who thinks all the time about whether ('wudder') to do something.

Panellist 3

Tossicated

A term for seasickness, used by seasoned sailors to scorn those with no sea legs

Saturday-stop

A time unlawful to catch salmon, from evensong on Saturday until sunrise on Monday, in the northern parts of the British Isles

Owlguller

To pry about, be stealthy, and thievish – (Suffolk)

Ninny-nonny

A pleasing fancy, whim or trifle

Meacock

A type of spigot used to stop up a barrel, sometimes used as an obscene euphemism

Kipe

To be wrong, just plain wrong, in Lancashire

Crap

Money (North) (everyone gets a point!)

Three thrum

A kind of musing phrase, like ‘ho hum’, said when hesitant

Kissing-crust

A ridge of icy snow, which girls would try to kiss and melt to improve their luck in love

Giglet

A shaped cutlet, made out of odds and ends of meat, beans etc

Snurle

A tangle of sheep’s wool, such as found on thorn bushes (Devon)

Clapperclaw

To beat, abuse and fight seriously

Bittiwelp

To holler loudly and in a crazy manner

Nunt

To make an effort (North)

Snuffkin

A kind of toadstool, once added to snuff to make up weight cheaply

Wudder

To make a sullen roar